Health and Care Professions Council (HCPC) Standards of Proficiency for Social Workers in England

The Health and Care Professions Council (HCPC) has published its Standards of Proficiency for Social Workers in England, which set out what practitioners should know, understand and be able to do in order to register with the HCPC, maintain registration and practice as a Social Worker. There are 15 Standards (all with sub-sections) which are listed below.

Social Workers must:

- Be able to practice safety and effectively within their scope of practice.
- Be able to practice within the legal and ethical boundaries of their profession.
- Be able to maintain fitness to practice.
- Be able to practice as an autonomous professional, exercising their own professional judgment.
- Be aware of the impact of culture, equality and diversity on practice.
- Be able to practice in a non-discriminatory manner.
- Be able to maintain confidentiality.
- Be able to communicate effectively.
- Be able to work appropriately with others.
- Be able to maintain records appropriately.
- Be able to reflect on and review practice.
- Be able to assure the quality of their practice.
- Understand the key concepts of the knowledge base relevant to their profession.
- Be able to draw on appropriate knowledge and skills to inform practice.
- Be able to establish and maintain a safe practice environment.

Once registered with the HCPC, Social Workers will be required to meet the standards relevant to their area of practice. They will also have to meet the HCPC's standards of conduct, performance and ethics.

The Standards of Proficiency will be subject to on-going review by the HCPC and updates to ensure they continue to develop and change with the social work profession. The Standards have also been designed to complement the Professional Capabilities Framework (PCF), which is overseen by the College of Social Work and sets out the key capabilities expected of Social Workers as they develop throughout their career.
